MAY BE HELD WITHIN A YEAR

Another Naval Disarmament Conference Held Probable.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE HOPEFUL

Official Assurances Given at Washington That France Has No Thought of Disavowing Her War Debt to the United States—Attitude of the Administration Again Made Known, Secretary Davis Returns.

Washington, Dec. 31.—It was indicated at the white house that President Coolidge is hopeful that it will be possible to hold another international naval disarmament conference within another year.

Whenever the time for such a conference is propitious, Mr. Coolidge will exert his influence to bring it about, but at the present juncture he is unable to determine when a conference might be called with fair prospects of success.

Investigation of the needs of the navy was decided upon by the house naval committee at a stormy session. A motion was adopted to call Secretary Wilbur before the committee Jan. 8 to make such recommendations as he might deem expedient.

The white house also reaffirmed the American government's determination to collect the war debts owed it by France and other European nations, and not to engage in any international or round-table discussion of pooling or cancellation. And the intimation was plainly conveyed that if nations owing the United States repudiate their debts or default in them, the American government is possessed of retaliatory powers in the way of checking private credits that might prove extremely embarrassing to the countries concerned.

Assurances received from the French embassy here that France had no thought of disavowing her war debt to the United States has served largely to mollify the wave of apprehension enveloping the American capital on the heels of what was construed as a hint from Paris of the possibility of such a course. In reiterating the intention of their government to meet its obligations, embassy officials took occasion to explain the legal exactions concerning the new balance sheet recently given out by the French ministry of finance, which, by omitting all reference to the American debt, appears to have given rise to the concern here. The omission, embassy officials emphasized, had no significance whatever as to the intentions of the government.

The question of whether Secretary of Labor James J. Davis will retire from the cabinet next March, as has been expected, was raised here following the secretary's return from a 52-day tour of South America. Davis declined to confirm or deny that he would relinquish his post and indicated he would talk the matter over with President Coolidge before there is any definite decision.

The house passed and sent to the senate the treasury-postoffice supply bill, which, with its $763,000,000 total, is the largest peace-time appropriation measure ever considered by congress. The bill provides, among other things, $11,000,000 for prohibition enforcement, $20,000,000 for the coast guard service, half of which would be available during the coming fiscal year for use in curbing rum smuggling. Other items in the bill include $2,600,000 for operation of the transcontinental air mail service, $526,373 for maintenance of pneumatic mail tubes in New York city, $16,656,200 for the customs service, and $9,103,101 for the public health service.

Widow Claims She Was Whipped.
Newark, N. J., Dec. 31.—Mrs. Albert Eltnor of Irvington, wife of a wealthy coal dealer here, was arrested on charges of having committed assault and battery in horsewhipping Mrs. Rose Donahue, a widow. She was paroled in custody of her counsel, Miss Constance Eltnor, a daughter, has denied that her mother used a horsewhip on Mrs. Donahue, declaring that "mother got excited, dropped the lash and went at Mrs. Donahue with her hands."

Cardinal Giorgi Dies.
Rome, Dec. 31.—Cardinal Oreste Giorgi, 69, died of pneumonia at his residence in the Palazzo Altomonte here. He was born in Belmonte, Italy, and was created a cardinal Dec. 4, 1916. He held the office of grand plenipotentiary of the Holy Roman church.

PRINCE GAGARINE

Russian Nobleman Who Finally Gained Entrance to America.

Gagarine in 1916 stood before a firing squad in Russia to be shot, but managed to escape.

SAVED BY RADIO

Two Hundred Persons Picked Off Burning Ship at Sea.

Los Angeles, Dec. 31.—Two hundred lives were saved by radio off the Mexican coast. Only the quick response of nearby vessels to the urgent plea of "Come quick," snapped out in English by a Japanese operator aboard the Japanese liner Ginyo Maru when the vessel, laden with explosive nitrates, caught fire, prevented possible death of all on board. The steamship Julia Luckenbach, picked up the 200 passengers and crew and put off again, to watch the big Japanese ship burn. The disaster occurred off the Mexican coast, 1,600 miles south of here.

WOMAN HELD INSANE BY AUTHORITIES

Admits, Sheriff Says, She Slew Four of Her Family.

Logansport, Ind., Dec. 31.—Sheriff Walter Boyer announced that Mrs. Emma Horbaugh, 33, a widow, confessed murdering four members of her family at the farmhouse of her father, eight miles north of here.

"I never used a shotgun before," she is said to have told the sheriff. "I did not know how to open or close the breech, but I did it. I wondered at the time if the neighbors heard the shots."

Mrs. Horbaugh's only explanation of the act was "they treated me mean."

Coroner Stanton filed an affidavit charging insanity and inquiry into the woman's mental condition was ordered. Stanton recommended to Merl Wall, county prosecutor, that the woman be adjudged insane and taken to the state hospital immediately and that there be no criminal trial. "There is no doubt that Mrs. Horbaugh is violently insane," said Stanton. "There is no use of going to the expense and delay of a criminal trial when the outcome would be exactly the same."

The coroner's verdict held that the murder victims met death "from gunshot wounds in the head inflicted with a shotgun in the hands of Mary Emma Horbaugh, a person of unsound mind."

Deaths From Poisoned Liquor.
Cleveland, Dec. 31.—According to a survey made by the International News Service, poison liquor sold for beverage purposes in Ohio during 1924 took a toll of approximately 300 lives. Cuyahoga county led with 82 deaths attributed to drinking poison intoxicants, with Mahoning county with 40 second. Lucas county with 38 was third and Franklin county with an unofficial total of 35 was fourth. Hamilton county was fifth with 33. Summit county officially reported 12 deaths due to this cause. In most instances, according to prohibition authorities, poison booze used for beverage purposes is secured by redistillation of denatured alcohol.

TEACHERS FAVOR TENURE BILL

Proposal Receives Approval After Heated Debate.

VOTE CAST WAS 144 TO 108

BTU Would Prevent Removal From Their Positions of Teachers Who Have Served in the Same School Three Years—Officers Elected at Final Meeting of the Ohio State Teachers' Association.

Columbus, Dec. 31.—At its meeting here the Ohio State Teachers' association approved the "tenure bill," to prevent the removal from their positions of teachers who have served in the same school for three years.

Approval came after a strenuous debate. Under provisions of the proposed law, a teacher who has served three terms can be discharged only for "inefficiency, neglect of duty, immorality, or improper conduct," and then only after a hearing before the board of education upon written charges presented by the superintendent. The vote was 144 to 108.

The measure was attacked by superintendents as "tying the hands of school officials and giving life time jobs to teachers," who might allow their work to slump after the three-year probationary period. Prevention of "political murder" indulged in by boards of education in the spring, and removal of the uncertainty of teachers at the close of the term as to whether they were to be rehired, was the argument of the teachers supporting the measure.

While opponents of the bill declared it did not put the teachers under a civil service arrangement, it is, in many features, similar to civil service. L. C. Dick, Madison county superintendent, led the opposition to the bill and finally forced a change to the effect that the superintendent, and not the clerk of the board of education, must prefer the charges upon which the teacher is tried.

The assembly tabled a motion to purchase a house in Columbus as a permanent state headquarters, when opposition arose from many sources. Dean H. C. Minnich of the school of education of Miami university was elected president of the state association. Superintendent U. L. Light of Barberton was elected to the board of control of the reading circle, and County Superintendent John R. Williams of Painesville; Karl W. Whinnery, Sandusky; A. R. Leonard, Columbus; Josephine Hammond, Steubenville; J. F. Smith, Baltimore; Carl T. Cotter, Toledo (three years); Sue Sexauer, Bucyrus (one year); Harriet Peck, Amherst, and Levon Falk, Mt. Cory, were named members of the educational council. John R. Patterson, Athens, was elected a member of the executive committee for three years.

GASED IN GARAGE

Youth Found Dead and Girl in Unconscious Condition.

Cincinnati, Dec. 31.—Floyd Griese, 21, of Greensburg, Ind., was killed and Miss Emily Scheffer, 17, was overcome in a garage here by carbon monoxide gas. Griese is said to have come to Cincinnati to purchase an automobile owned by Miss Scheffer's parents. He went to the Scheffer home and Miss Scheffer volunteered to take him to the garage and show him the car. It is believed that they started the engine and then permitted it to run while they looked over the other parts of the machine. The only opening in the garage was a crack in a window and physicians who were summoned said that it probably was only a few minutes until both were unconscious.

Police Have Busy Year.

Columbus, Dec. 31.—Local police experienced the busiest year in their history during 1924, according to a compilation by Bertillon Officer John Parks of all crimes reported up to Dec. 30. There were more than 12,400 arrests. Auto thefts were twice as numerous in 1924 than in 1923. Burglaries also showed an increase. Arrests included 2,500 drunks, an increase of 300 over 1923.

Receiver Named.

Cincinnati, Dec. 31.—Judge Smith Hickel, in United States district court appointed Charles Schaefer receiver of the Minces Under-selling Stores. Petition in bankruptcy was filed against Harry D. Minces doing business at Chillicothe and Ironton, O.; Maysville, Ky., and here.

OHIO HAPPENINGS

State Saving Money.

Columbus, Dec. 31.—The advance in the market price of wheat, corn, pork and other farm products is saving the state of Ohio approximately $500 daily as a result of the large crops harvested from the institution farms of the state, it was estimated by John E. Harper, director of public welfare. The market price of the state's crop of corn, wheat, hay and oats alone is worth about $75,000 more than the day it was harvested, while the advanced cost in the price of pork shows a greater profit.

Roughly Treated by Bandits.

Cincinnati, Dec. 31.—Two well dressed robbers held up Jack Smead at an automobile company plant, of which he is service manager. They used wire and heavy skid chains to bind Smead; they gagged him to the point of suffocation and they hurled him face downward in the grime of the shop floor. Smead was held a prisoner for nearly four hours. The robbers cracked a safety cabinet and escaped with currency and checks.

To Recount Vote.

Marysville, O., Dec. 31.—To determine if there were any irregularities in the recent election in 12 precincts in the northern part of Union county, Judge Cameron has ordered a recount. The order resulted from the claim of John Howison, defeated for county commissioner, that there had been irregularities in 14 precincts during the November election.

Train Hits Automobile.

Wilmington, O., Dec. 31.—When her automobile was struck by a passenger train at Pyle's crossing, near here, Bertha Sherman of Clarksville was probably fatally injured. She was taken to a hospital here. Two other occupants of the car, Mary Sherman and her young baby, jumped before the train demolished it.

Returns Unearned Pay.

Toledo, Dec. 31.—Lynn C. Boyatt, Lucas county sanitary engineer, returned $984 to the county treasury simultaneously with the presentation of his resignation to the county commissioners. The "pay-in" order bears these words on its face: "Returned per diem on time away from duty for year 1924."

Governor Sets Example.

Columbus, Dec. 31.—Although precedent has made it customary for governors to ask and be allowed $15,000 a year for the upkeep of the executive mansion, Governor Donahue is asking $12,000 a year, thus saving the state $6,000 for two years.

Hit by Machine.

Cleveland, Dec. 31.—The body of a motor car victim, found in Goldwood township, was identified as that of Clayton Landthair, 57. Identification was made at the county morgue by R. J. Mitchell, Dover village, with whom he boarded.

Killed by Falling Tree.

New Lexington, O., Dec. 31.—Wayne Ice, 22, son of John Ice of Glenford, was instantly killed near Glenford when a tree he was helping cut down fell on him.

Liquor From Gas Jet.

Toledo, Dec. 31.—A gas jet on the second floor of a house yielded a stream of liquor when opened by police dry raiders. It was reported. The pipe led to a barrel of hooch in the basement, the policeman said. A fair pump was used to maintain the flow. B. Shinavar, 29, was arrested on the charge of violating the prohibition law.

SOLONS TO GET DOWN TO WORK

Speaker Silver Plans to Expedite Proceedings.

JOINT SESSION EXPECTED

Report of State Building Commission to Be Considered Soon After the Opening Formalities Next Monday. Welfare Department Director to Submit to Legislature Proposal For Increasing Wages of Prisoners.

Columbus, Dec. 31.—Speaker-elect Harry D. Silver announced here that every effort will be made to start the legislative machinery operating as quickly as possible next week, and also to expedite certain phases of the work.

The house will be asked to consider the report of the state building commission after the opening formalities of Jan. 5. Speaker Silver plans to have the house and senate sit in a joint session, he said. Governor Donahue, State Auditor Tracy and Attorney General Crabbe comprise the building committee, which has its report nearly ready. It is also intimated that this report will advise some plan to legalize construction of the proposed new offices on the present site.

The house committee will be appointed immediately after the organization is completed. Speaker Silver said that he contemplates increasing the finance committee to 20 members instead of the usual 15, in order to speed the handling of financial affairs. He may appoint three vice chairmen to take up measures of particular interest to them, such as a subdivision for the welfare department, another for the department of education and the third for highways and state combined. The chairmanship of the house finance committee has not yet been determined. Speaker Silver said. Five active candidates are now in the field.

Under the state welfare department's program to be submitted to the general assembly, the number of persons receiving charity or in actual want in Ohio would be reduced by several hundred. John E. Harper, welfare director, is asking the legislature to triple the appropriation for wages for prisoners who work in state industries. The increase he would use to help support dependents of prisoners. Working prisoners now receive from one to five cents an hour and Harper would increase this to from one to 15 cents. The dependency of the prisoner's family would be investigated before he was allowed the maximum, Harper says. Under the one to five-cent scale, many innocent dependents suffer for the sins of the breadwinners, and it is to stop this inequality that Harper asks $300,000 a year for the next biennium, instead of the $110,000 now allowed. There are 1,656 prisoners now employed, and at least half of them have dependents deserving of state help, Warden Thomas of Ohio penitentiary says.

SCORES DRY SLEUTH

Federal Commissioner Denounces the Methods the Former Employed.

Columbus, Dec. 31.—United States Commissioner Wright scored the methods employed by A. L. Hasemeyer of Toledo in bringing about the arrest of two chauffeurs for alleged violation of the prohibition act. Cross-examination of Hasemeyer during the chauffeurs' hearing before Wright developed that Hasemeyer staged a "party" on the night of Nov. 30 in his room. It was testified that Hasemeyer hinted to the hotel doorman that he would like to have some liquor, which was furnished later by the chauffeurs. Hasemeyer admitted that he drank part of the liquor and gave some of it to a woman companion in his room.

"Your actions in this case are an example of the flagrant use of authority," Commissioner Wright told Hasemeyer. "Doubt exists in my mind whether you had the enforcement of law in mind when you effected the purchase of the liquor. Through your own conduct you have placed yourself liable to prosecution under the law."

Bridges Across the Ohio.

Washington, Dec. 31.—Authority for the construction of two bridges across the Ohio river was contained in bills passed by the senate. One bridge would connect Portsmouth, O., with Fullerton, Ky., and the other would extend from Huntington, W. Va., to an Ohio point opposite. The bridge at Huntington would be constructed by the Huntington and Ohio bridge company and would be a highway-street railway toll bridge.

FINDS AGAINST SMALL

Court Holds Illinois Governor $1,000,000 in Debt.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 31.—In a decision handed down by Circuit Judge Frank W. Barton, Governor Len Small was held accountable for "the entire interest" entrusted to him as state treasurer. The decision was accompanied by a denunciation of the state official, who sat before him. Assistant Attorney General Clarence N. Board said the amount of Governor Small's alleged indebtedness to the state was "considerably more than $1,000,000." The case will be formally referred back to the master in chancery for a definite decision of the amount of indebtedness.

Commenting on the decision of Judge Burton in the civil action against Governor Small, Attorney General Edward J. Brundage, who instituted the proceedings, declared: "The decision of Judge Burton, sustaining the master in ordering an accounting of state money privately invested, through the medium of the so-called Grant Park bank, ought to conclusively satisfy the people that there was merit in the litigation. It was not inspired by politics, but because the facts warranted action and my office was the proper one to institute it."

Crabbe Probing Killing.

Mansfield, O., Dec. 31.—Attorney General Crabbe and Special State Investigator Deaton of Urbana resumed the investigation of the killing of John Dalton, rubber chemist, near Ashland. Dalton was shot to death by a posse of officers headed by Sheriff Charles Barr of Ashland county. The shots were fired, it was claimed, when he refused to stop his automobile at the command of the posse. Barr and his aids were en route to serve a liquor search warrant on a farmer residing nearby.

FILES CROSS-BILL

Wife of Congressman Makes Allegations in Divorce Case.

Alpena, Mich., Dec. 31.—Mrs. Frank Scott, wife of Congressman Scott of this city, filed a cross petition in their divorce suit in which she alleges reckless gambling, shipping liquor into this country in barrel and trunkful lots and the loss of all of her possessions to pay gambling bills of her husband. Miss Jane Kennedy, for years secretary to the congressman, was named for "consistently poisoning the mind of the plaintiff against his wife by means of malicious and false tale bearing." The cross bill also stated that Miss Kennedy obtained a trunkful of Mr. Scott's possession from a Washington storage company. Scott on the stand alleged wild night parties on the part of his wife and others at the national capital.

Sentenced to Church.

Cleveland, Dec. 31.—Mrs. Anna Belson, 18, and Mrs. Mary Landman, 33, were given suspended fines of $50 and 60-day workhouse sentences on condition they attend church services every Sunday for a year. They were charged with stealing $35 worth of merchandise from two department stores. Three men charged with intoxication also elected to take the "church cure" rather than pay the usual penalties.

The Change

"Times have changed," said old Festus Pester. "In the good old days of yore, when a wagon broke down in the road we used to gather around it and put in several hours apiece inquiring how the contretemps occurred, sympathizing with the owner of the vehicle and recalling and describing in the most minute detail sundry incidents of similar character which had transpired in the past. But nowadays when a motorcar blows out a tire we go right on. Eh-yah!—times have changed, and for the worse. Most people these days have no more sympathy than so many snapping turtles." —Kansas City Star.

Three armed robbers drove their auto head-on into the paymaster of the American La France company at Bloomfield, N. J., and laid down a smoke screen to cover their escape with $8,600.

Sir Peregrine's Prejudice

Joe Coyne, the American comedian who has been for years a star of the London stage, had an adventure with a new-made knight last summer. This knight—call him Sir Peregrine—refused to rent his cottage at Maldenhead to Mr. Coyne because the latter was an actor. "Sir Peregrine," the house agent explained, "rented to an actor once before, and there was a great deal of unpleasantness." "Well, you tell Sir Peregrine," Mr. Coyne retorted, "that if he believes in condemning a whole class for one individual, he might remember that Sir Roger Casement, knight, was hanged."

Alfred E. Smith, Jr., 22-year-old son of the governor of New York, was married to Miss Bertha Gott of Syracuse, whose father is an engineer on the New York Central railroad. The couple eloped.

Modern Slavery.

There is no legal and formal slavery now in any Christian country. It survives in a mild form in most Mohammedan countries. The peonage system of Latin American countries is not much different from slavery, but rests upon a different theory. The peon is not supposed to be owned as property; he is supposed to be working to pay a debt which he owes the master.

Strategy and Tactics.

Our word strategy is from the Greek strategos, meaning army leadership. It primarily means the disposition and higher direction of land, sea, and air power in war. It is often confounded with tactics, but there is a difference. Strategy includes the general direction of a campaign, the higher leadership, while tactics deal with the actual handling of troops and ships and the disposition of forces in the battle area. Strategy is the science of military position and of the combination and employment of means on a broad scale for gaining advantage in warfare. Tactics is the art of maneuvering vessels and troops in the immediate presence of the enemy, practically in the battle area.

BASKETBALL

At C. A. C. Gym New Year's Night—
Dancing Follows Game.

The Circleville Athletic club wishes all of its patrons a Happy and Prosperous New Year, and suggests that each one of you make this your first resolution for 1925; to go to the gym tomorrow night and witness the basketball game between the C. A. C. boys and their old-time foe, the Pure Oils of Columbus.

Both Baker and Robinson, who played on the Bliss team when they were here Christmas night, will be in the Pure Oil lineup. During the two years that Baker played on the C. A. C. team he won an enviable reputation for ability and clean sportsmanship, and altho he will be an opponent tomorrow night his many friends will be delighted to find that he has lost none of his former pep.

The present C. A. C. team is composed of the very best young athletes of Circleville; they have been practicing faithfully and consistently since early fall, their accuracy at basket shooting is improving with every game and their floor work is simply marvelous. Their victory over Bliss last week is proof of their ability and a guaranty that the New Year night's game will be one of the best of the season. Don't miss it.

After the game the Scarlet and Grey orchestra will furnish the music for another delightful dance. Come, every body, and bring your friends.
Start the New Year right.

PIGEON VETERANS
OF WAR HAVE HOMETwo of the Birds Carry the Scars of Battle.

Los Angeles, Cal.—A home for United States army carrier pigeons, veterans of the World war, has been established here at the army pigeon lofts at Ross field, Arcadia.

Included among the 200 birds at the home, all of which saw service overseas, are three honor birds, so distinguished because of their exceptional performances in action.

Two of these, President Wilson and The Mocker, carry scars of battle. President Wilson sacrificed a leg and The Mocker an eye in the fight for victory.

The third bird hero at the home, Spike, appears none the worse for his wartime experiences. His claim to fame lies in his record of having carried 51 messages of importance without being injured.

Ray R. Delhauer, pigeon expert in charge of the army lofts, considers these birds heroes no less than the former soldiers.

President Wilson, a state-colored homer of great vitality and rapidity of flight, was first used in the tank corps. His work was so well done he was transferred to the Meuse-Argonne sector and stationed at Aubry. About five o'clock one rainy morning he returned from his second flight in this sector with his leg shot off. He had brought important messages at a speed of almost a mile a minute.

On the morning of September 12, 1918, The Mocker arrived at his station with one eye destroyed and his head a welter of blood. The message tube he carried contained information of great importance and gave the locations of several heavy artillery batteries which the Germans had been using effectively on the American troops.

The American artillerymen had every enemy gun in that sector silenced within twenty minutes after The Mocker arrived. Thus The Mocker was credited with saving many American lives.

There also are a few German carrier pigeons at the home. They were captured from the enemy. Delhauer says these birds will be used for breeding and development, as they have proved superior to other varieties.

Make Two Railroad Ties
Where We Now Make One

Syracuse, N. Y.—How to make two railroad cross-ties where we now make one is told by Prof. Nelson C. Brown, head of the department of wood utilization, New York state college of forestry, Syracuse university.

The system explained by Professor Brown is the one generally followed in Europe. Railroad ties in Europe are narrower on the top than on the bottom. In the United States ties are largely cut square. This sort of tie is probably more serviceable than the European type, but the United States may soon be forced to follow the European method due to the shortage of timber, or find a substitute for wood ties which has not been possible up to the present time.

In Europe the log from which ties are cut is trimmed on two sides only. In America the log is trimmed on four sides to make one square tie. By trimming the log on only two sides and cutting it through the center two ties are obtained. The diameter of the log represents the under surface of the tie and the trimmed sides represent the upper side upon which the rail rests.

From trees 12 inches in diameter two ties with a 12-inch base are thus obtained. Trees 18 inches in diameter yield four ties by the same system of trimming and cutting the log twice, through two diameters at right angles. According to the usual method in the United States a 14-inch log, trimmed on four sides, will produce only one tie with a 10-inch base.

Girl Student Forgets She
Is Heiress to $250,000

Berkeley, Cal.—When Rudolph Banning, wealthy San Francisco and Honolulu resident, died a year ago, he left one-quarter of his $1,000,000 estate to his niece, Miss Ida Eleanor Weaver, University of California student. It was learned here, when questioned about it, Miss Weaver said she had been so interested in her studies she "had almost forgotten about it." Miss Weaver, who is a premedical student, said she is looking forward to founding a hospital after her graduation.

London Girl Goes to Show; Checks Weapon

London.—The police are trying to solve the mystery of a fashionably dressed and pretty young woman, bob haired and hatless, who casually checked a parcel in the cloakroom of Daly's theater. A curious check-room attendant opened the package and found a live bomb of a well-known variety used by the British Tommies in the trenches during the war. The woman asked an usher to bring the parcel to her seat during the midst of the performance, but the bomb had already been given to the police. The woman left the theater unobserved.

STRANGE SENTENCE IS NEARING END

On Thirtieth of Each Month Must Remain in a Cell From 3 O'clock in the Afternoon Until 7
O'clock Next Morning.

(United Press.)

Pomeroy, O., Dec. 31.—Edward Pilehard, 51, convicted of the manslaughter of his brother, William, 40, on May 30, 1923, walked out of Meigs county jail this morning at 7 o'clock—ten months of a strange sentence served.

Alone in their country home east of here with their aged mother, the men clashed after William had become furious, according to the mother's testimony and attacked her. Edward is supposed to have shot William to protect his mother, who has died since from infirmities of old age.

The case aroused a state-wide interest and the court, after much angling, passed on the accused probably one of the most unusual sentences ever imposed on a prisoner in the history of Ohio jurisprudence. He was sentenced to appear at the county jail each month on the thirtieth day and remain in a cell from three o'clock in the afternoon until seven the next morning. This is to be kept up for twelve months.

He has two more trips to make from his rural home, twenty miles away, where he now lives in solitude and alone. He is in feeble health and it is doubtful whether he will be able to fill out the sentence.

Ancient Jewels.

That women of ancient times were not less fond of jewelry than those of today might reasonably be taken for granted. But the remarkable fact (as recently ascertained by archeologists) is that the jewelry they wore—at a period, let us say, 1,000 years before the birth of Christ—was fully equal in artistic workmanship to the best products of the twentieth century.

Remarkable Crab.

A peculiar crab has been captured in the Indian ocean. It is nearly two feet in diameter and its longest claws are about a yard. It has projecting eyes like those of a lobster and is very voracious. It was put in a tank of sea water and when darkness came it proved phosphorescent, emitting peculiar white rays.

CAHOKIA MOUNDS ARE AGES OLDER THAN TROY

Ruins Beneath Trojans' City Give Ample Proofs, According to Indian Collector.

Springfield, Ill.—Centuries before Achilles and Ulysses and their Greek warriors drove the Trojans from the walls of Troy, as Homer relates, an equally industrious and more faithful army was laboring in Illinois building the Cahokia mounds, according to a theory advanced by Edward W. Payne, Indian collector of this city.

Thirty-six hundred years ago Troy was a flourishing city. Excavators have reached what they declare to be its ruins, under the ruins of five other cities. Then going still deeper they found ruins of three other cities below the level of Troy. And in the ruins of the city nine layers deep evidences were found, Mr. Payne says, that show it was a contemporary of the Cahokia mounds.

Dr. Heinrich Schliemann is the explorer who did the excavating, according to Mr. Payne. He found pottery there which has been photographed, and copies of these photographs, now in possession of Mr. Payne, have been used in a careful comparison with the pottery which was recovered recently from Monk's mound, the largest of those of the Cahokia group.

"I have duplicated every design on the pottery taken from beneath the ancient city of Troy with pottery taken from this mound," Mr. Payne said. "I am the only one who has been able to do this for the reason that I am the only one who got the pottery recovered from the mounds."

When the mounds were built, Mr. Payne averred, there was evidently a universal custom of burden bearing by means of a basket strapped on the back between the shoulders, and fastened by means of a strap across the forehead. Every bit of the dirt that went to make up the immense mounds was carried by means of such baskets, sometimes from considerable distances. Canoes also were evidently pressed into service in transporting the little offerings of earth. It was all brought with religious reverence to make this great tribute and sacrificial offering to the god or gods of the builders, Mr. Payne said.

Estimates of the amount of labor required to build the mounds, printed recently, are deficient, according to some authorities, Mr. Payne added. One authority estimated that the labor took 12,000 men and women 100 years to accumulate these deposits of earth. The women, he declared, did most of the work.

Philadelphia Builds
Inn as Silent Protest

Philadelphia.—High among the tops of the Catskills a leaping flame for nearly two hours proclaimed the end of a Philadelphia's enterprise. The Hotel Kaaterskill was burning to the ground.

Friends and acquaintances of the man who built it, George Harding, learned that the world's largest mountain hostelry was only a heap of ashes. With the news of the hotel's passing comes the tale of why it was built.

George J. Harding, a grandson, reveals the history:

"My grandfather was a stubborn old fellow. When he made up his mind he wanted a thing, he either got it or found out why not. That's how the Kaaterskill came to be," he said.

"Previous to 1879 he had been in the habit of going to the Catskills with an invalid daughter. At these times he stopped at what was then the leading hostelry, near Kaaterskill mountain.

"One day he asked that broiled chicken be served his daughter each day while she was at the resort. This the waiter refused, and so my grandfather called the proprietor. He, too, refused the request. 'Chicken only on Sunday,' was the edict. My grandfather, accustomed to having his own way, became angry.

"'I'll come back here next summer and build a hotel on that mountain!' he pointed to the Kaaterskill—'that will forever put your outfit in the shade,' he thundered. And the next summer, 1879, he did."

Colorado Glaciers Recede
40 Feet in 22 Years

Boulder, Colo.—Colorado's glaciers are vanishing slowly, according to Prof. Junius Henderson, curator of the museum of the University of Colorado.

The great ice masses on the glacier peaks of the Rockies have been in slow retreat for the last 20 years, Professor Henderson says.

"However, the retreat has been very rapid since 1910," he adds, "for climatic conditions have been unfavorable to the accumulation or preservation of ice during that period. This is particularly noticeable in the Arapahoe glacier, the largest in Colorado.

"If disintegration continues at the present rate, all the glaciers in the state will disappear with the possible exception of two, the Arapahoe and the larger St. Vrain."

Professor Henderson expressed the opinion that the recent dry seasons were only part of the "climatic cycle" and probably would not continue as unfavorable.

Detailed study of the Arapahoe glacier reveals that the great ice sheet has retreated 40 feet within the last 22 years. Corresponding loss is shown on others, large and small, Professor Henderson says.

AMUSEMENTS

If there are any doubting Thomases who are still of the opinion that Gloria Swanson is merely a fashion plate, we bid them rush right over to the Met theater where her latest Paramount picture, "Manhandled" began a two-days' run today. We absolutely guarantee that all doubts as to her histrionic ability will vanish, when they see Gloria combining mimicry, broad comedy, tears and pathos in one of the best character delineations she has yet brought to the screen.

"Manhandled," which was adapted by Frank Tuttle from the Saturday Evening Post story by Arthur Stringer, gives Miss Swanson a wide range of possibilities, and to her credit it must be said that she makes the most of them. In this simple, human story she plays the part of a shop girl, who starts life in a New York department store. Money, beautiful clothes good times have the same appeal to her as they have for the average girl, who has never had them. She has youth and beauty—is clever and attractive, and naturally there are men, who are willing enough to help her lead the kind of life she thinks she wants. She is caught up in a wild whirl of gaiety—at a breakneck pursuit of pleasure in the most bohemian set in the metropolis, only to realize in the end that her free and easy contact with so many men has depreciated her value in the eyes of the man who really loves her. How she wins for herself a great and wonderful victory forms a mighty climax that will hold the spectators spellbound.

The picture was directed by Allan Dwan, who has surrounded Miss Swanson with an excellent cast, headed by Tom Moore, who gives one of the greatest performances of his career as the hard working mechanic, whose honest love wins Gloria in the end.

All in all, "Manhandled," is one of the most sensational pictures that we have seen in many a day.

When setting a mouse trap, try tying the bait in a piece of muslin. There is a certain amount of curiosity in a rodent that compels him to gnaw through the muslin to get the bait, and the tug at the muslin is sure to cause the spring to close the trap.

Coal's Uncertain History.

The story of coal is a very uncertain one. No one seems to know when it first began to be used for fuel. All through the centuries it pops in and out of English literature as something taken for granted, and when it was finally found well in the van of the great industrial expansion of a century or more ago it occasioned no special comment.

Grass Growing by Electricity

Electric lights have been used successfully at the Jumping Brook golf club, in New Jersey, to grow grass on the greens at night, and thus shorten the delay in putting the course into service. Grass lighted at night grew four inches in three weeks, while grass on the unlighted portion of the green grew but one inch in the same period. Twenty-four thousand-watt globes with special reflectors were hung four feet from the ground to give a continuous, even spread of light. On the lighted portion the seed came through in five days, while seed sown on the unlighted part of the same green did not germinate until two days later.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Still Worse

"Great guns, Gap!" ejaculated an acquaintance. "What 'pears to be the matter? Has yore wife had a back-set, or something that a-way?"

"Worse than that," sadly replied Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "The doctor says she mustn't do a lick of work for two months, anyhow. And I don't know who in the nation is going to get the winter's wood in—the children say they won't, and I'm all down in the back till I can't turn a tap. 'Pears like we've got to freeze and starve whilst we're adoin' it."—Kansas City Star.

Insulate Handles of Pliers

In working about electrical connections it is frequently desirable to insulate the handle of the pliers to prevent the possibility of receiving a shock. This may be readily accomplished by placing a piece of heavy wall rubber tubing over each handle.—Automobile Digest.

OHIO PEOPLE ARE READING MORE BOOKS

Than Ever According To Report of State Library Custodians.

(United Press.)
Columbus, O., Dec. 31.—Ohio people are reading more books than ever, state library custodians claim. Last year the state had 50,000 volumes in traveling libraries. That is a record which was mailed to the reader from the library here and returned the same way. This was an increase of 10,000 over the year before.

FOX DRIVE FOR MIAMI COUNTY

(United Press.)
Piqua, O., Dec. 31.—Tomorrow morning near here the Miami county fox drive will get an early start. A trap-shooting contest will be held after the roundup, it was announced. Thousands are expected to take part in the day's activities and at least all the Miami county sportsmen have been attracted.

Cleanliness Necessary.
When our daughter was six years old she was taken to see her first vaudeville performance. One number on the program was a dancer, who wore very little, and Lova's first remark when she saw the dancer was: "Oh, mamma, but she has to wash herself clean, so much of her shows."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Antiquity of Gloves.
Gloves are of great antiquity, having been worn in England as long ago as in Saxon times. Practically the only change which there has ever been in styles of gloves has been in their decoration. Sometimes they were richly adorned with jewels, as having been paid for a pair in the fourteenth century.

—Mrs. Victoria Schoeller formerly of this city, was recently a patient at Grant hospital Columbus, undergoing an operation by Dr. Andre Crotti.

Big Value of Silo for Dairy Purposes

Plans for Feeding Vary in Different Sections

The silo has won a permanent place on the farm where good dairymaking is carried on and the best interest of the stock looked after. The silos in this neighborhood are mostly all built of solid concrete. The contractor here has a steel form that he invented himself that enables him to put up a silo in a few days, the weather permitting, says a writer in the Indiana Farmer and Guide. These silos have all given satisfaction.

The benefits of silos are many. The winter feed can be stored away at a time when other work is not very pressing, a large amount can be stored in a comparatively small place, all the nutrient of the feed is saved in the silo, and there is no waste to contend with. The cost of filling a 32-foot silo in this section has been around $15 to $20 for cutter. Field work is done by a ring, that is, five or six farmers take their teams and hands and combine and work together until they are all filled.

Corn harvesters have been found the quickest way to cut the corn for filling silos. The bunches being tied together makes it easier to handle and the wagons are better loaded. The main idea is to keep the cutter running full time and not stop for the wagons to come from the field. A good three-horse team can generally keep ahead of the cutter.

Plans of feeding the silage vary. The best way to get the most of the silage out of the silo in good shape will be to adhere to the following rules and not vary from them. When ready to start to feed, throw all of the inferior silage off the top that has settled level all around. Each time that you remove more take it all level over the top as you go and it will keep good all the way down.

Stable Manure Is Best Fertilizer for Garden

Common stable manure is the best fertilizer for the garden, but it is often supplemented by the use of some special commercial fertilizers for certain crops. For the leaf crops where nitrogen is most needed a light sprinkling of nitrate of soda will start growth rapidly and improve the quality as well as increase the crop. Acid phosphate will aid in making the plants set crops. It takes so little of any fertilizer to be effective that the cost is hardly noticeable. It is to be remembered that you are only supplementing that which you have in the soil to gain special results.

Adding manure has a lasting effect on soils, and the same is true of green manures, but the commercial fertilizer does not have such a lasting effect, and it is used for the one crop fertilized. One case where nitrate of soda was used on tomatoes made fine fruits and plenty of them, and lasted five or six years. A pound of nitrate of soda will make a suitable application for from one to two hundred feet of drill of lettuce, radishes or spinach, all of which it benefits greatly, and it costs only a few cents. Neither nitrate of soda nor phosphate will need more than a dusting along the rows or around the hills, and it should be kept from the foliage or stems as much as possible.

Laying Hens Need Clean Water in Clean Vessels

The modern hen eats a balanced dry mash for egg production, but it takes water to wash down that mash. So it pays to keep a galvanized pail of fresh water near the mash hopper. If the pail is placed in a small wooden store box just a little wider than the diameter of the pail, it will not be tipped over when the hens jump up on the side.

If iron pails are used for winter drinking fountains you have a receptacle that is easy to scour and clean. A little boiling water and a few corks will soon scrub the scum from the drinking pails and make the water more healthful and appetizing. Hens relish clean water and drink more of it when the fresh supply arrives. The use of clean pails is a great help in keeping down the spread of respiratory diseases.

FARM NOTES

As competition is the life of trade, so co-operation is the salvation of farm marketing.

Soils that are subject to flooding for more than a couple of days at a time are not good for alfalfa.

Alfalfa may be seeded as clover is sown on winter wheat or rye, using 10 or 12 pounds of seed per acre.

The method of cutting seed corn this fall will determine to a large extent the success or failure of the stand in 1925.

Almost any commercial "egg mash" should keep hens laying reasonably well at all times of year, except when actually in the molt.

Grading is not a process for reducing the quantity of farm produce to be sold, but a process for increasing the value of that which will be sold.

MODESTY HAS ITS GEOGRAPHY

Women of Different Lands Vary as to What Is Proper.

Washington, D. C.—"A Chinese woman would not think of exposing to the public gaze her bound feet, a lady of Yip would never be seen promading down the mud-hut boulevard of her native village without her woven necklace of hibiscus leaves though her grass skirt was her only garment, and the Mohammedan woman of a few years ago would not be seen without her veil.

"Modesty has a geography all its own," says a bulletin from the Washington (D. C.) headquarters of the National Geographic society, in connection with the winter fashion decrees from Paris.

Keep Finger Tips Hidden.
"Alexander von Humboldt, who traveled extensively over the world known in the Eighteenth century, recorded in his travels that some of the central Asian peoples are reluctant to let any one see their finger tips. A traveler who visited the Alaska coast, in the same century, fine that native women, after he had persuaded them to remove an ornament which made the lower part of the mouth protrude two or three inches, were greatly embarrassed.

"It seems paradoxical that clothes originated out of the desire for ornamentation rather than for warmth. Arabs of the hot deserts of Arabia and Africa are fully swathed in flowing garments, which only in part serve as protection from the heat, while the Patagonians, from the coldest portion of the South American continent, wear only the skin of one animal as a kind of windshield. Our word 'modesty,' came from the Latin 'modus,' meaning measure or standard, and the clothing which was customarily worn therefore became our first conception of what was the proper or modest thing to wear. Each of the world's peoples consequently has its own standards.

"The explorers who first came to American shores found that the Carib Indian women, who simply wore embroidered girdles, often appeared without this single garment, but they were never so remiss as to forget to paint their bodies with annatto, a red or yellowish-red dye. This constituted their idea of womanly modesty. One explorer reported in his journals that a woman of a tribe in Brazil, whose custom it was to go unclothed, had in some mysterious manner acquired a petticoat which she put on for special occasions, but it seemed to have the effect of making her thoroughly ill at ease.

"The Chinese women are among the most demure and modest in the world, but they wear trousers! And, furthermore, some of them would be horrified at the immodesty of a skirt.

"The beaches of American seaside resorts would pain the fine sensibilities of the Sumatran and Celebes savages who consider it highly improper to expose the knees.

The Snaggle-Tooth Mode.

"Some of the Mohammedan women of the Sahara region will tear off their last garment to cover their faces upon the approach of a stranger. The demure Breton maiden wears a cunning little close cap, because it would be dreadfully immodest to uncover her hair. Sturdy German peasant women paddle around their homes and fields in dresses that just escape their knees, but they would be shocked at the idea of wearing a dress which was open at the neck.

"In the Tonga islands a man would consider himself thoroughly unprepared to appear before his fellow mortals unless he was tattooed, and the Marquesans follow much the same practice, the amount of the decoration varying with the rank of the individual, but the legs are always tattooed from ankle to thigh. Warriors have themselves done in geometrical designs with squares and inverted triangles on their faces, and the women are ornamented in patterns which resemble fine lace work. Some of them wear loin cloths and girdles of tapa cloth, a fabric made from the bark of the breadfruit tree.

"An American lady of 1924 is not self-conscious at exposing her arms and shoulders in the evening, but she would be shocked at wearing a décollete gown to breakfast or lunch. Our demure grandmothers, who represent to us the personifications of modesty, wore their sleeveless and neckless dresses all day."

Paris Men Hire Airplane to Get to Their Offices

Paris.—The air is the only traffic area in Paris that is not badly congested nowadays, and four business men of St. Denis, the northeastern industrial section, who live in the southwestern residential section, have combined in hiring an airplane to make the seven-mile trip between their homes and offices. Neither by automobile, subway nor autobus, they say, can they get across Paris in less than an hour, while by air it is a ten-minute jump.
